Prices and Packages 2015

Custom Photography is an investment, and as with most things in life, you get what you pay for. Photographs are a beautiful way to record your family and special moments throughout your years together. So you want a quality product you can rely on. For that reason alone, I only supply high quality electronic images of the prints you order from your session. A digital set of 10 smaller images to use on social media and share with family and friends electronically via smartphones is included in the cost of your shoot. I can also supply fully finished products. From a simple print to frame or canvas wall art, everything is produced professionally.
