MANNED SECURITY GUARDS

All our security guards are licensed with the SIA and complete in-house training where necessary.

Each individual is hand-selected for each role to ensure they are the best personnel for the task. All of our staff are a uniformed deterrent and undertake complimentary duties including customer service on reception to logging vehicle details complying with your buildings policies and procedures. When customers arrive at your offices, the security officer is usually the first person they meet and a good first impression is imperative. Professionalism is very important to us, all our manned guards work inline with the specific site assignment instructions and risk assessments.

Fully Trained Manned Security Guards

Having your site manned has many more advantages of just CCTV or traditional access controls. A manned guard onsite can react straight away to any breaches or attempts of theft from site, instead of just catching them at a later stage through digital technology.

All our Manned guards (Static security officers) are fully trained and work in accordance to BS 7499 : 2013, they are all approved by the Security Industry Authority and hold the correct SIA Licence for their roles.
