"The Beautiful Lies" Documentary

January 2017

"The Beautiful Lies" is a documentary that shines a revealing light on the cosmetic and beauty industry. It showcases the passion of entrepreneurs in this business dominated by major manufacturers.

"The Real Hair Truth" Documentary

October 2009

The Real Hair Truth is a must see film for beauty students, beauty schools, beauty professionals, beauty salons or anyone who is thinking about being in the beauty/cosmetics industry. It covers the mind set and passion required as well as the hard work involved to become the best in the business. From education, how to get the right job, the importance of continuing education, understanding the various business models, to succeeding with retail sales, working with clients, employers or employees, building clientele and marketing, The Real Hair Truth covers it all. It also exposes the all too common and bad practices in the industry, such as how people and institutions can be misleading and offer false promises for their own gain. It explains what to look out for and how to avoid them. The Real Hair Truth is more than an incredibly informative and revealing documentary about the industry! It is only one part of my vision to advance the industry, set a new standard of excellence and help others.
