

Candidate Survey

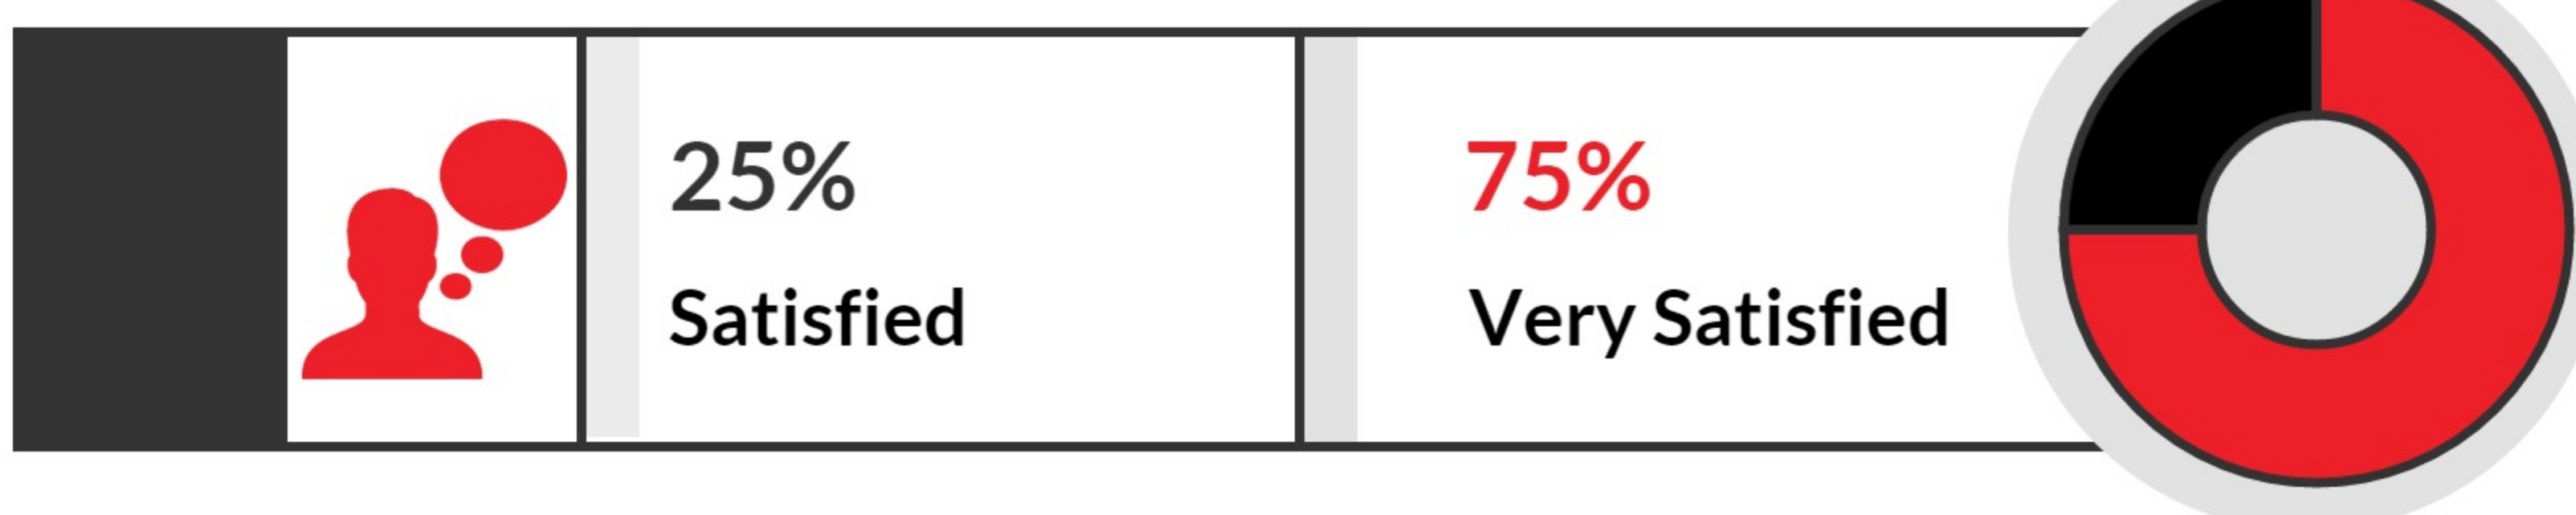

We seek to create an efficient, accurate and successful interview process for our Clients. One critical component is ensuring candidates you interview are well-informed and engaged about your business and the role. We know this reduces your 'wasted time' and creates higher success rates from interviews, ultimately increasing the pace of hiring and reducing the overall cost. Here's what candidates say about their Redline experience as we prepare them for interviews with CLIENT NAME

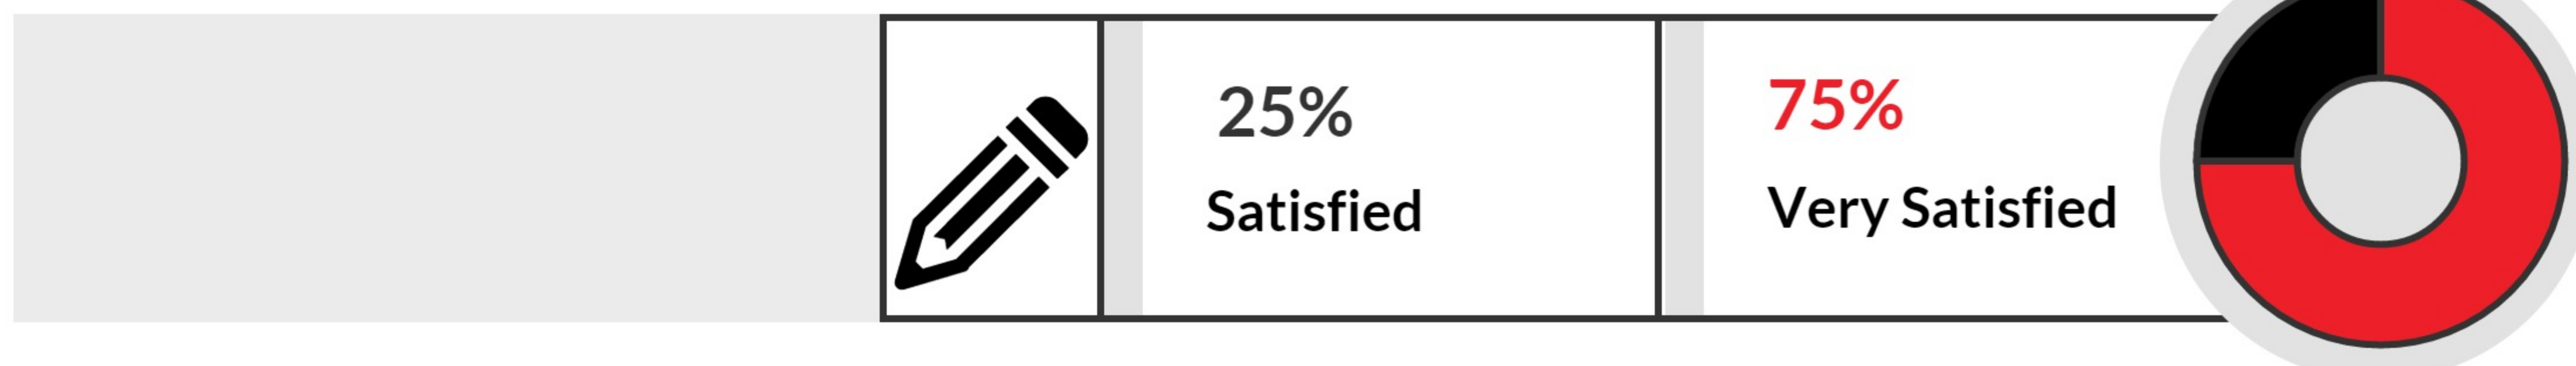

The style and professionalism of your Consultant

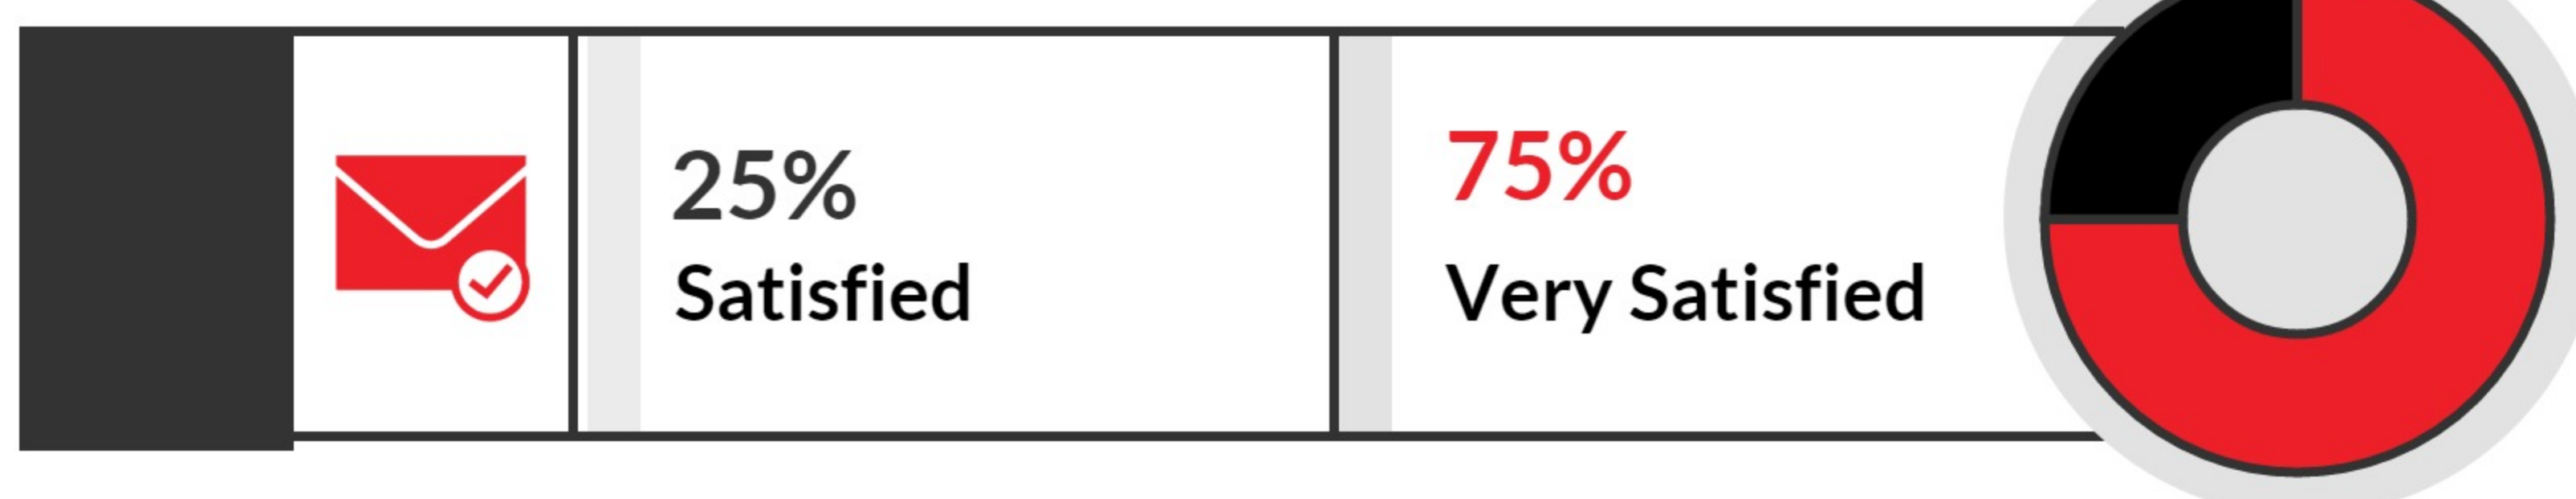

The quality of verbal information received from your Consultant before interview

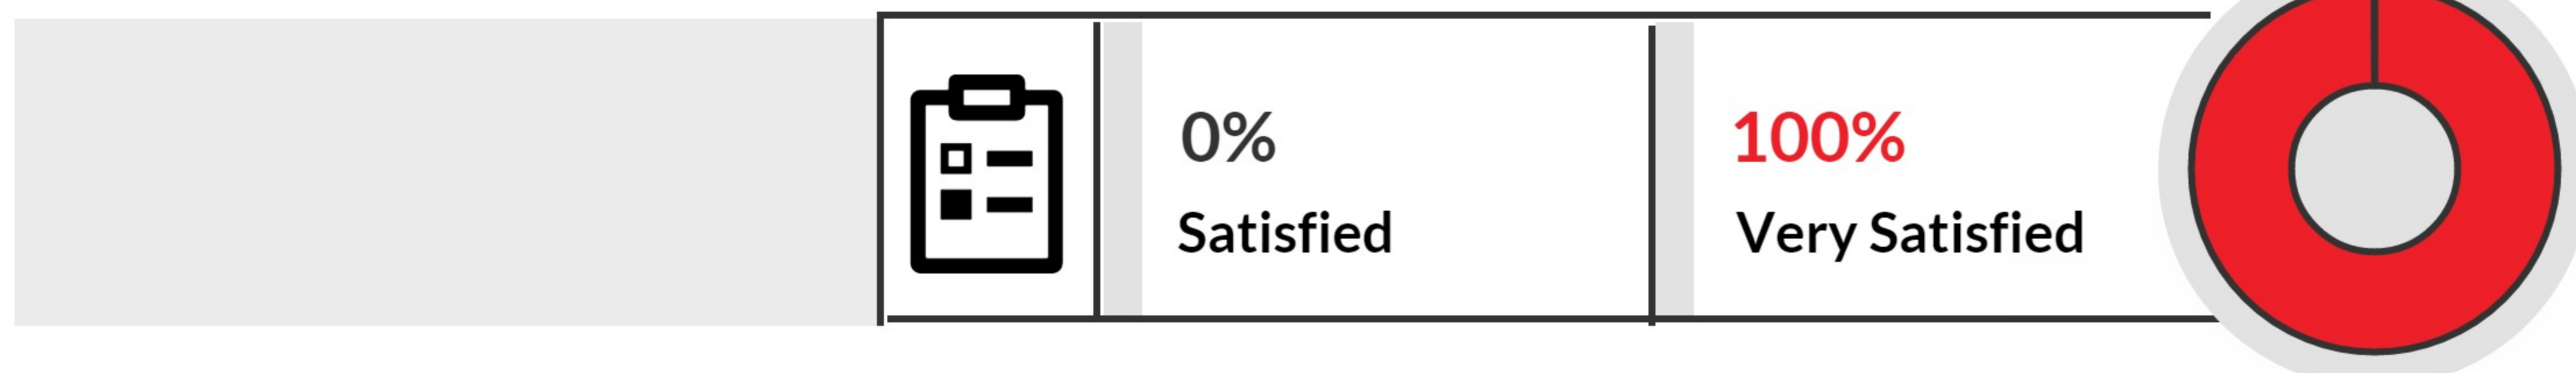

The quality of written information received from your Consultant

The interview confirmation received in a timely manner and contained everything you needed

The quality and speed of feedback from Redline after your interview

The overall service you have received from Redline Group
