Welcome To Pure Wash Window Cleaning

Why Does The First Clean Take Longer?

Due to the build-up of dirt and grim on windows that are not regularly cleaned, we need to spend more time, so all debris get removed from the glass, frames, and sills. On average we use twice the amount of water than we do on a maintenance clean. We do a deep clean on the first visit, washing and restoring your windows. This takes us on average an additional 30-50% extra time to ensure that they up to our standard.

Why Are Maintenance Cleans Important?

Regular cleaning of your exterior windows not only keeps you home looking beautiful, reduces your energy bills, but it's important in maintaining the lifespan of your windows, frames, sills and doors. While glass appears smooth to the touch, it is full of microscopic holes, these holes capture different elements, which causes the glass to wear down if they are not cleaned. Without regular cleaning of your windows dirt penetrates the glass which causes staining and makes the glass more susceptible to damage from exterior sources such as wind, rain, salt water and changes in temperature. Mould that forms in the creases of your rubber seals can cause long term damage. Rubber is a naturally porous material that mould can penetrate leading to eventual decay and the breakdown of your seals producing draughty windows and increased energy bills.

What Is Pure Water?

When water is deionized, it draws in other minerals and elements such as those found in dirt and grim like a magnet. Since all its mineral content is removed, the pure water is "hungry" to acquire other components. It aggressively tries to compensate for the loss of its ions by taking them away from its surroundings. Because of its ability to easily remove dirt and grim, ultra pure water makes an ideal cleaning agent for your windows and is completely chemical free.
