YOU CAN BE SURE WITH US.

We work with manufacturers which are certified in various fields along the production chain. The individual certificates cover a wide range of accreditations, e. g. social standards, sustainability and conservation of the environment, the material or the respective production process. In addition standards and monitoring processes are set for all covered areas.

WRAP is an independent and objective non-profit organisation that has set itself the goal of improving the working conditions in factories in the clothing industry. The WRAP standards include the prohibition of forced or child labour, prohibition of harassment or abuse, payment of the legal minimum wage including social benefits, and guaranteeing of a safe and healthy workplace.

The Global Organic Textile Standard (GOTS) sets out guidelines for the manufacturers of textiles made from organic fibres. These guidelines cover the entire supply chain - both environmental aspects and the working conditions in the textiles and clothing industry. The fertility of soil may not be manipulated by harmful substances, persistent pesticides or artificial fertiliser, for example. Likewise, the cultivation of genetically-modified crops is prohibited.

The ISO 9001 standard defines the bases for a quality management system. It includes a specific focus on the customers, the motivation and involvement of the management staff, all processes and continual improvement on all levels.

The ISO 14001 standard sets the framework for an environmental management system. While no concrete requirements are stipulated for environmental performance, the standard provides companies and organisations with a framework within which effective environmental management can be established.

The OEKO-TEX® criteria catalogue offers manufacturers in the textiles industry a scientific basis of uniform standards for the evaluation of possible harmful substances in textiles. This label provides an indication of the verified safety of skin-friendly clothing for consumers, for example.

The OHSAS 18001 (Occupational Health and Safety Assessment Series) is an internationally-recognised method to test and assess work protection systems. A defined management system is used here to identify and control health and safety risks. This allows companies to minimise hazards for their employees and visitors.

Textile Exchange (formerly known as Organic Exchange) is a non-profit organisation established in 2002, which is committed to the development of sustainability in the global textile value chain worldwide. The organisation supports people and companies in the implementation of sustainable practices. The focus is on minimising the harmful impacts of the global textiles industry and maximising the positive ones.

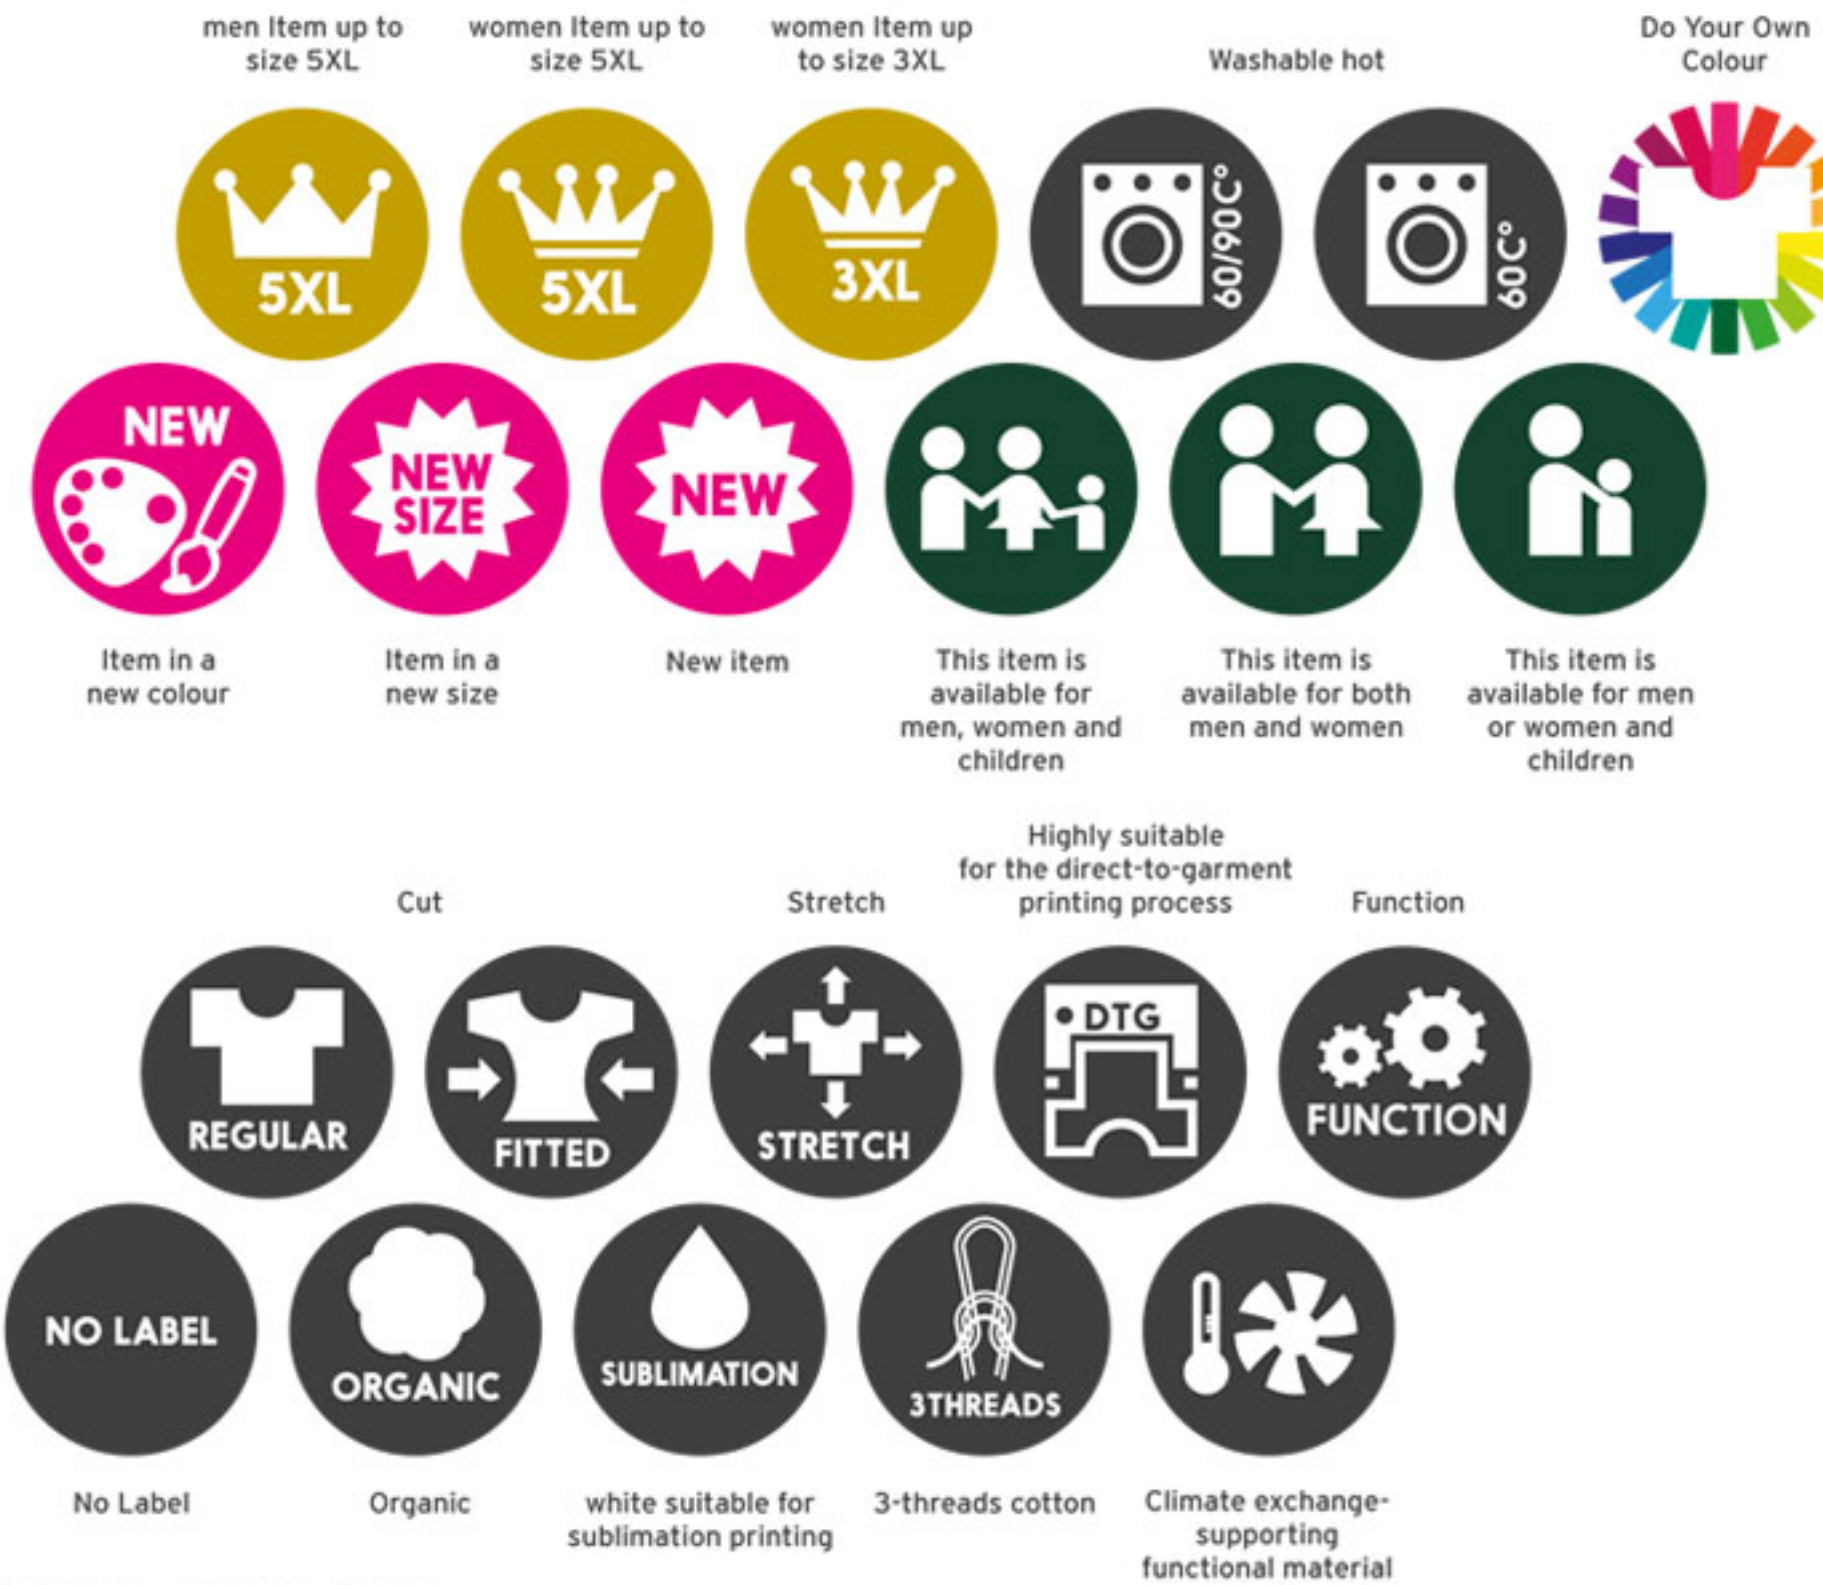

The Think Green Initiative (TGI) supports suppliers in the implementation of environmental protection measures in the manufacturing process. At the same time, it helps to reduce costs and enhance material efficiency. The requirements of employees, investors and the community are also taken into account.

The Customs-Trade Partnership Against Terrorism (C-TPAT) strives to protect the global supply chain from terrorism.
