Be warm, be safe, be environmentally-friendly with a TechnoHeater™

THE HELIOS

“This Is The Future Of Outdoor Heating”

Peter Jones of BBC TV's Dragons Den

The Revolutionary New Outdoor Heater

The Helios electric heater creates infra-red heat with a radius of up to 5 metres. It stands at 152cms and not only looks stylish but is economical (15p/hour approx.), environmentally-friendly, portable and effective.

The Carbon Fibre heating elements create heat through infrared waves, and the unit is waterproof up to IP55 testing.

Use it where and when you need heat, on patios, terraces and balconies, or in garages, store-rooms, workshops, even on scaffolding! It heats people not the air or room. No need to pile on layers of clothing; you can work or relax in front of it in comfort.

Simply move it into place on its heavy duty wheels and plug in! All of your heating requirements are sorted when you have the Helios - no more messing around with gas heaters; the Helios will keep you warm for years.

TechnoHeater™ operates with low running costs (up to 85%), and cuts carbon emissions by 50% compared with gas patio heaters.
