MIDDLEMARCH
by George Eliot

Talk at Stanton Guildhouse on August 15th 2019, 2.00 - 4.00 pm.

Regarded by many as the finest novel in the English language, George Eliot's "Middlemarch" shows life in a provincial town in the 1830s. Eliot follows the fortunes and relationships of a wide range of characters, and through them depicts the social, political and industrial upheavals of the period. We shall discuss the characters, themes and social background of this wonderful novel, as well as looking at Eliot's narrative style and language. I hope to show excerpts from a TV adaptation of the novel.

Fee £12.50 includes afternoon tea.
