Care for your Hotel Linen
in these 4 Sustainable Ways

Running a hotel not only includes serving the best to your guests but also maintaining the items used in serving your guests, including your hotel linen. The linen products used in your hotel once took up your precious time when you purchased them from your trusted retailer in UK. Carelessly treating the expensive linen would mean a heavy loss for your business.

So here are some sustainable cost-effective practices for hotel linen care.

1. Wise Selection

- Hotel linen care becomes easier when you select from the right wholesale linen manufacturer.
- Make sure your purchased towels, bedding and luxury hotel bathrobes in UK are made from 100% cotton.
- Linen products that are 100% cotton will allow innumerable washes along with maximum comfort.

2. Wash in low temperature

- Washing linen at low temperature will increase the longevity of your hotel linen.
- Whether there are bathrobes, towels, beddings or tablecloths, low temperature is the key.
- Using low temperature will reduce energy and water consumption while prolonging the life of your linen.

3. Appropriate training

- The success of your hotel business also lies in your staff and how they treat the items used in your hotel.
- Proper training should be given to your staff on how to treat hotel linen in the right way.

4. Recycle the hotel towels

- Do not throw away hotel towels, robes, beddings or tablecloths when they are nearing the end.
- If they are in usable condition, donate them in any charity program.
