

About Peter Baldwin Photography

Your wedding day is set to be the most important day of your life, and you'll want to remember it forever. You need a photographer that you can trust to deliver a set of images that reflect, not just you as a couple, but also your family and friends, capturing the beauty and emotions of your day as it happens.

Peter Baldwin is a professional photographer who dedicates most of his work to weddings. From the initial booking stage, through pre-wedding meetings to the day itself, planning and understanding your requirements is a key component to the final set of images. The incorporation of personalised themes, special people or objects, results in a collection of totally unique images that are as individual as you and the wedding that you have planned.

His style is natural, undemanding and relaxed, ensuring you enjoy your day without worrying about long sessions of photography. With a touch of the traditional as and where necessary, the result is a collection of timeless images that you can treasure and reflect upon for years to come.

Because your wedding is unique, our package options allow you to choose what is best for you. Do you want to include a digital image option, prints, or both? It's up to you. Incorporating a range of albums which come with real leather or linen cover options, your choice of images will be given the beautiful finish they deserve. Ready to hang framed prints and canvases are also available. Included online galleries allow you and your friends the chance to view your photos and purchase copies at leisure.

Peter Baldwin is a member of the SWPP and covers weddings throughout the whole of Yorkshire and surrounding areas. To see more of his work, take a look the portfolio pages at www.baldwinphoto.co.uk.
